

Equality and Diversity Training

FREE courses for all childcare practitioners

The Department for Children, Schools and Families values diversity and is determined to ensure that all individuals are treated fairly, with dignity and respect. It recognises the importance of preparing our children to live in a diverse, multi-ethnic society. It is committed to ensuring that Early Years and Childcare settings are open to all, implement equality and inclusion policies, provide relevant accessible activities and provide a welcoming environment.

The course is suitable for childcare practitioners working in all Early Years and Childcare settings. The course content will:

- Allow candidates to reflect on their own attitudes and beliefs and where these come from
- Discuss what is meant by an anti-bias approach
- Look at identity, culture, race, ethnicity, gender, age, sexual orientation and disability
- Challenge stereotyping and prejudice
- Discuss practical ways to celebrate differences

Both the September and October courses are now fully booked, however we are taking names for forthcoming training. Places will be FREE but limited to 2 people per setting. Register your interest today to avoid disappointment.
